Bursary Program

It is important to Shallaway Youth Choir that our program is accessible to as many children and youth as possible. Therefore, we are thrilled to offer a bursary program to our choristers. Going forward, when considering applications for bursary support, in accordance with standard Canadian practices, we will use Statistics Canada's low-income cut-offs (LICOs) as a benchmark for identifying families that may benefit from financial assistance. An exception process will be established to ensure that youth are not denied the Shallaway experience should unique circumstances exist.

What are LICOs?

Statistics Canada's Low Income Cut-Off Rate (LICO) is commonly used as the unofficial poverty measure in Canada. The LICO is a relative, proportional income-based measure that varies across the province according to population size. Therefore, a household spending more than 55% of its income on food, shelter and clothing, with little extra income to spend on transportation, health, personal care, education, household operations, recreation or insurance, will fall below its LICO.

ESTIMATED BURSARY AMOUNTS

Based on the low-income cut-offs, chorister bursaries will be available in various amounts depending on the applicant's annual household income and family size.

To determine how much financial assistance a family may potentially be eligible for, please see the table below. They demonstrate the annual household incomes that correspond with 15%, 45%, and 60% of the low-income cut-off for family sizes of 2 to 7 persons, as well as the potential bursary amount. Funding for the tour will be assessed on an individual basis.

Please note:

- ✓ Applications will be considered on an ongoing basis while funds are available.
